

MARVEL

SPIDER-SENSE SPIDER-MAN

IT'S LIGHTS OUT WHEN ELECTRO

STARRING

Nova Noah

Spider-Man and Nova Noah have come to the city's power plant because something strange is going on.

Yikes! My spider-sense is tingling big time, Nova Noah.

Yeah, and with good reason. Look at all those bolts of electricity shooting out of the power plant.

Inside the power plant.

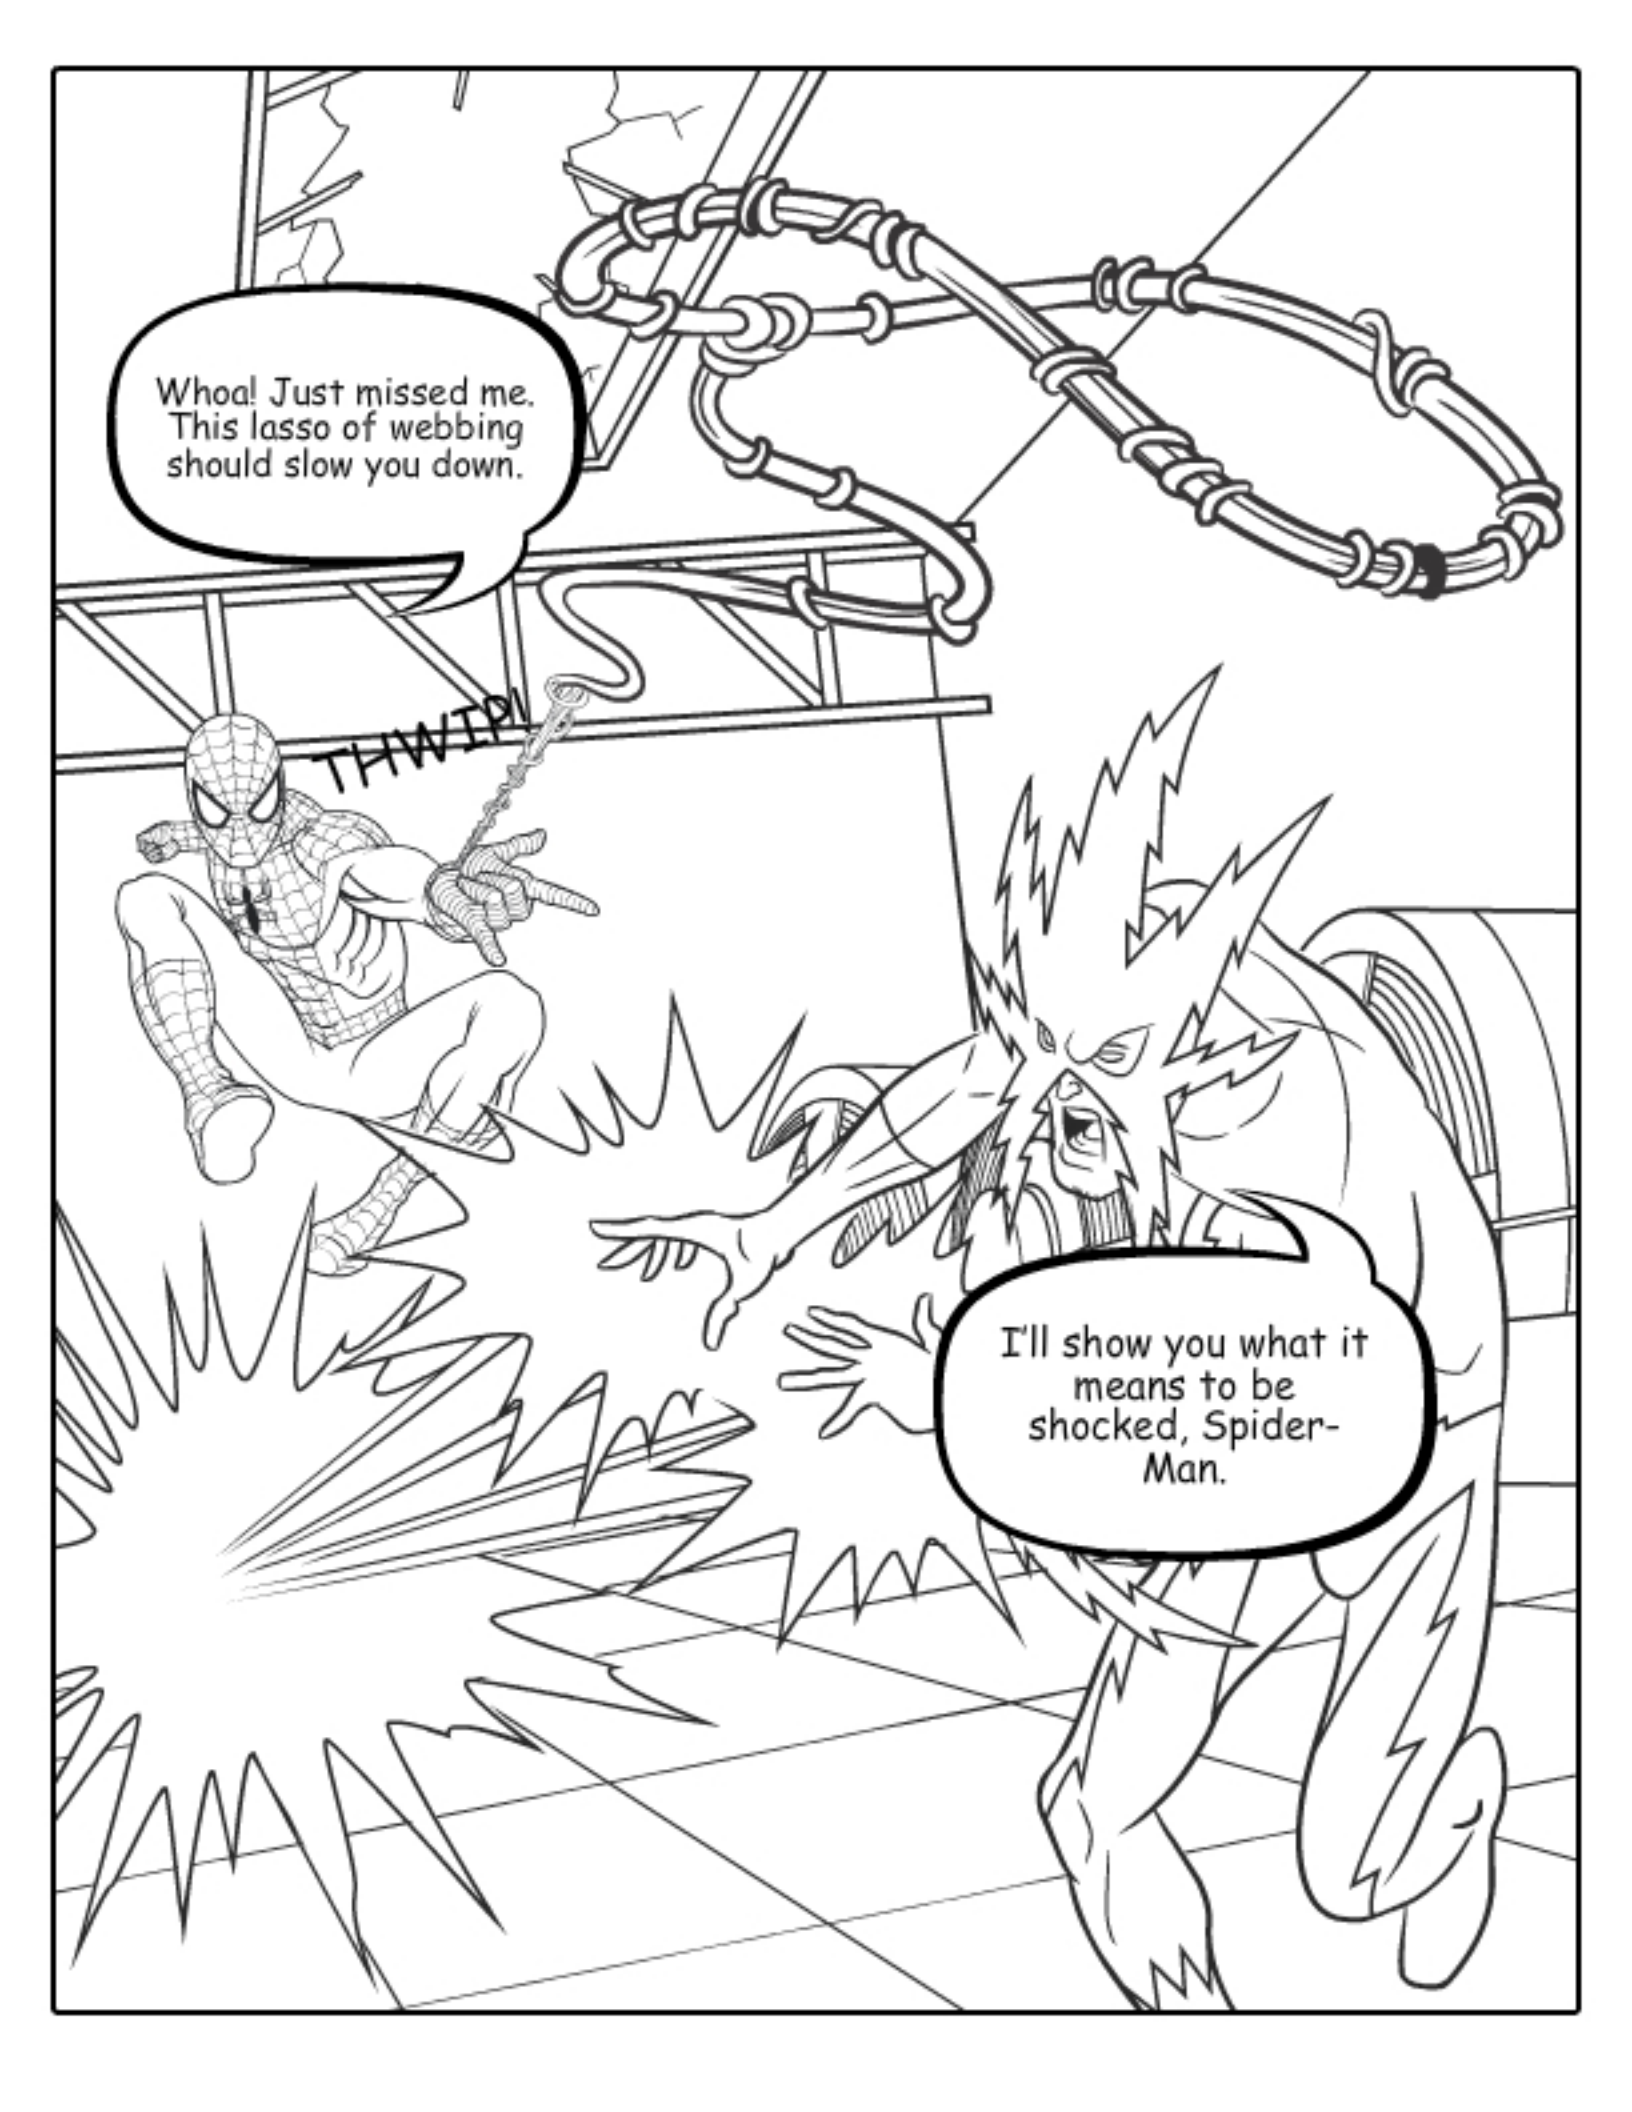

If New York City wants its lights turned back on again it'll cost them one billion dollars.

We better put a stop to him. You take him head on and I'll come in through the back and surprise him.

Shocked to see me?

It's Electro. He's causing a power outage.

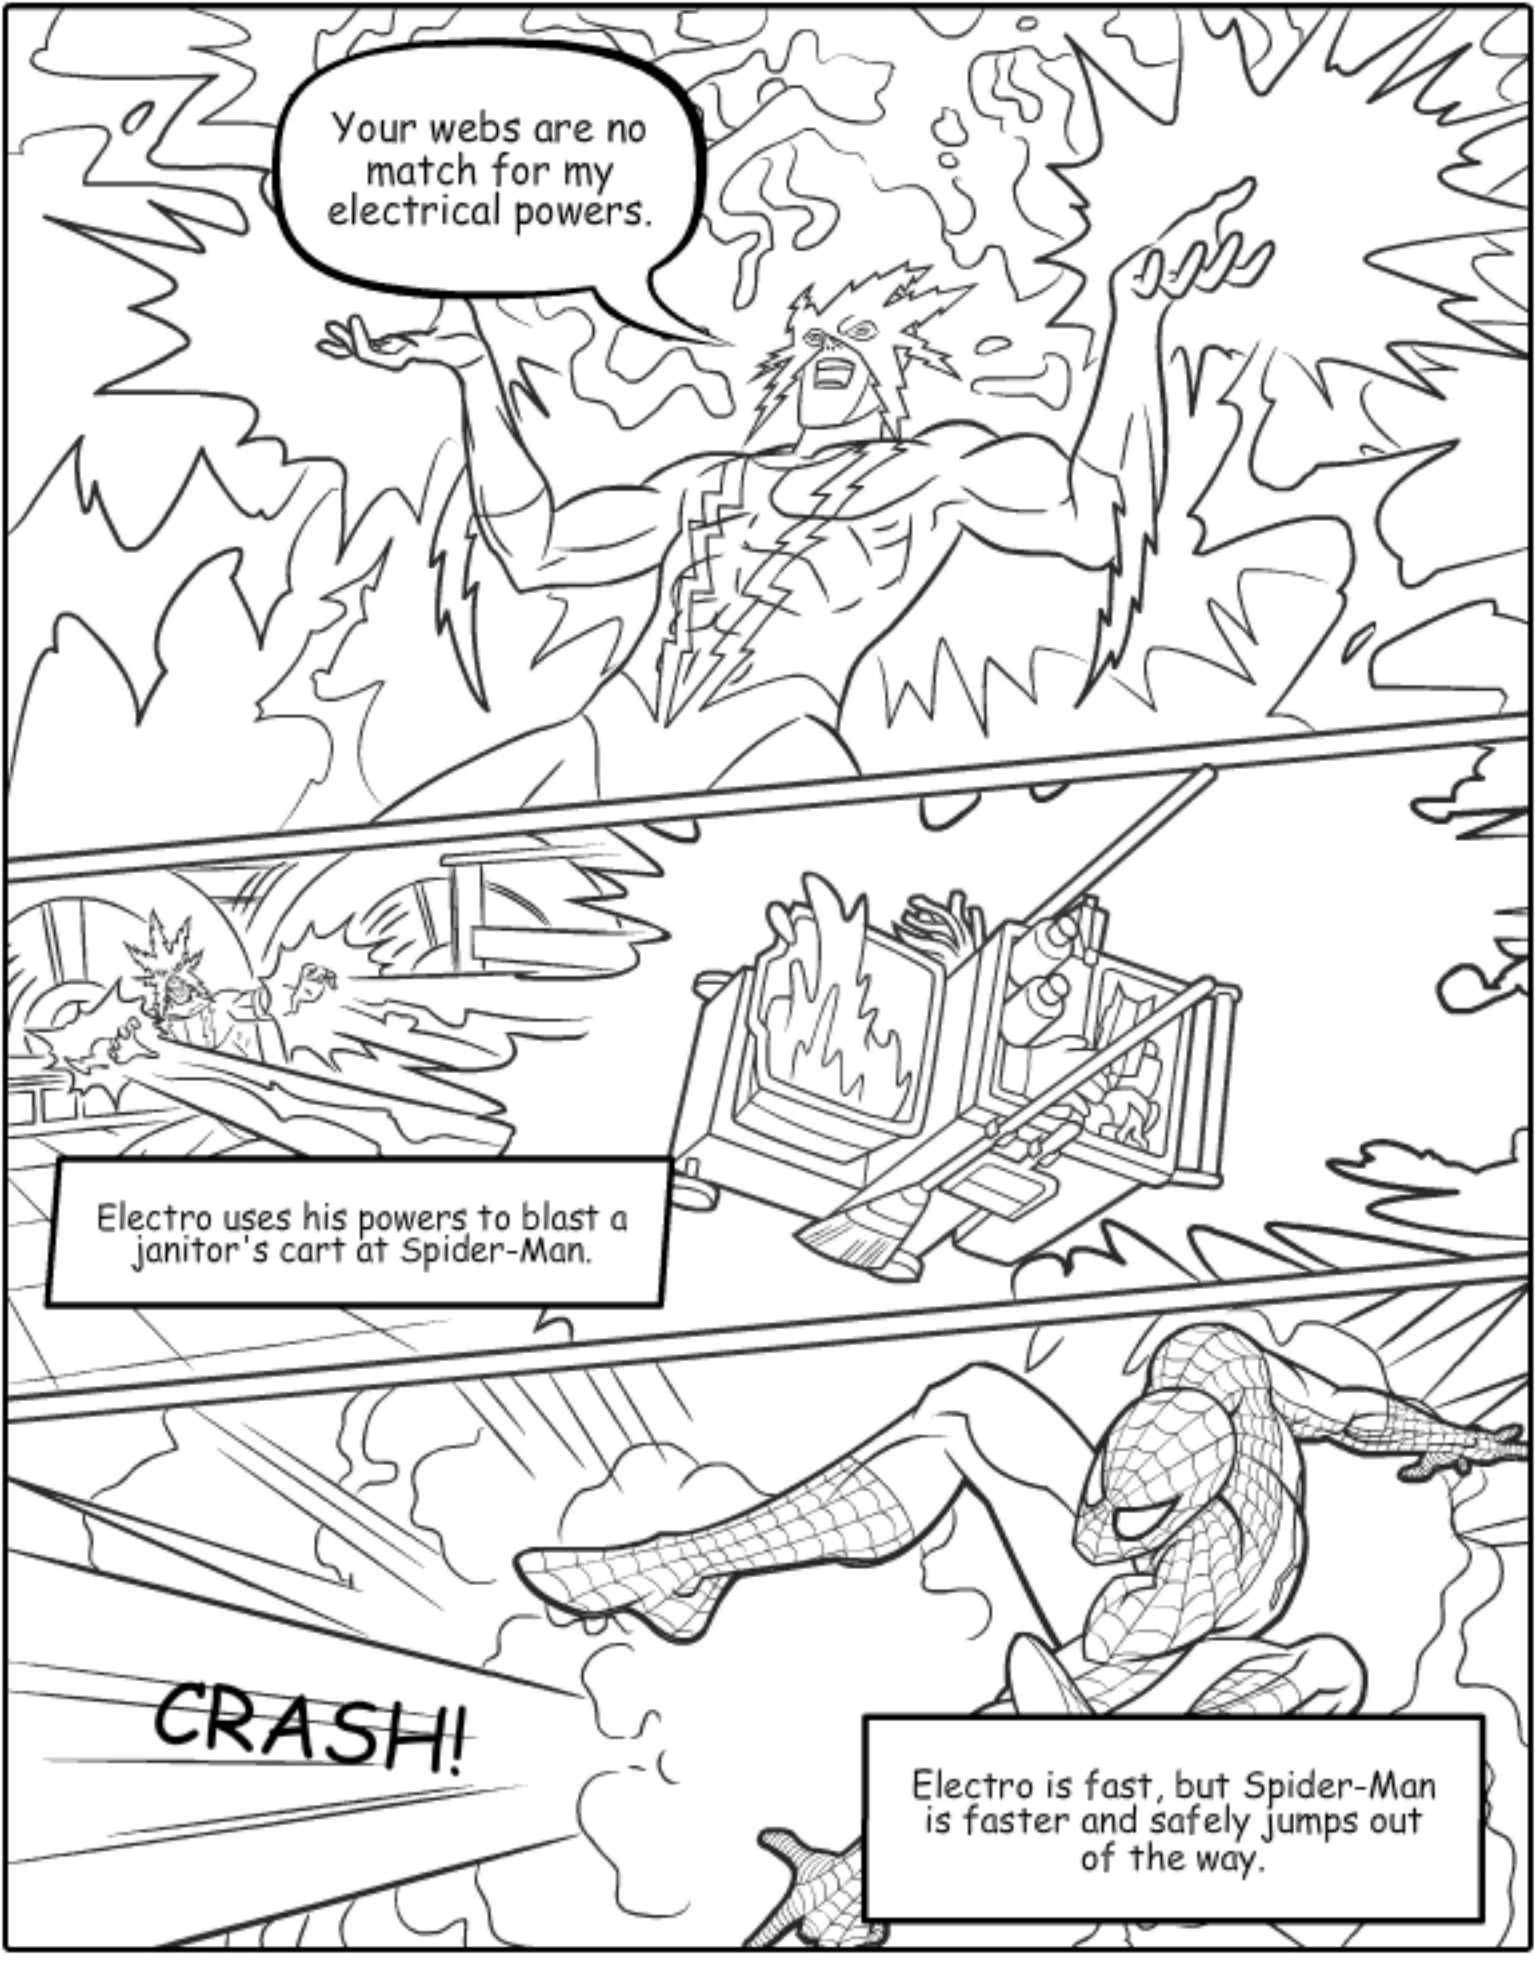

Spider-Man?!

A black and white comic book panel showing Spider-Man in a crouched position, dodging a large lasso of webbing that is suspended in the air. Spider-Man is looking back over his shoulder at the lasso. A speech bubble from him says, "Whoa! Just missed me. This lasso of webbing should slow you down." The lasso is made of multiple strands of webbing, some of which are already attached to a metal structure in the background. Spider-Man is holding a strand of webbing in his right hand, and a sound effect "THWIP!" is written near his hand. In the foreground, there is a large, jagged, starburst-like shape representing a shock or impact. To the right, a character with spiky hair and a determined expression is shown from the chest up, with a speech bubble saying, "I'll show you what it means to be shocked, Spider-Man." The background shows a metal framework, possibly part of a building or a vehicle.

Whoa! Just missed me.
This lasso of webbing should slow you down.

THWIP!

I'll show you what it means to be shocked, Spider-Man.

Your webs are no match for my electrical powers.

Electro uses his powers to blast a janitor's cart at Spider-Man.

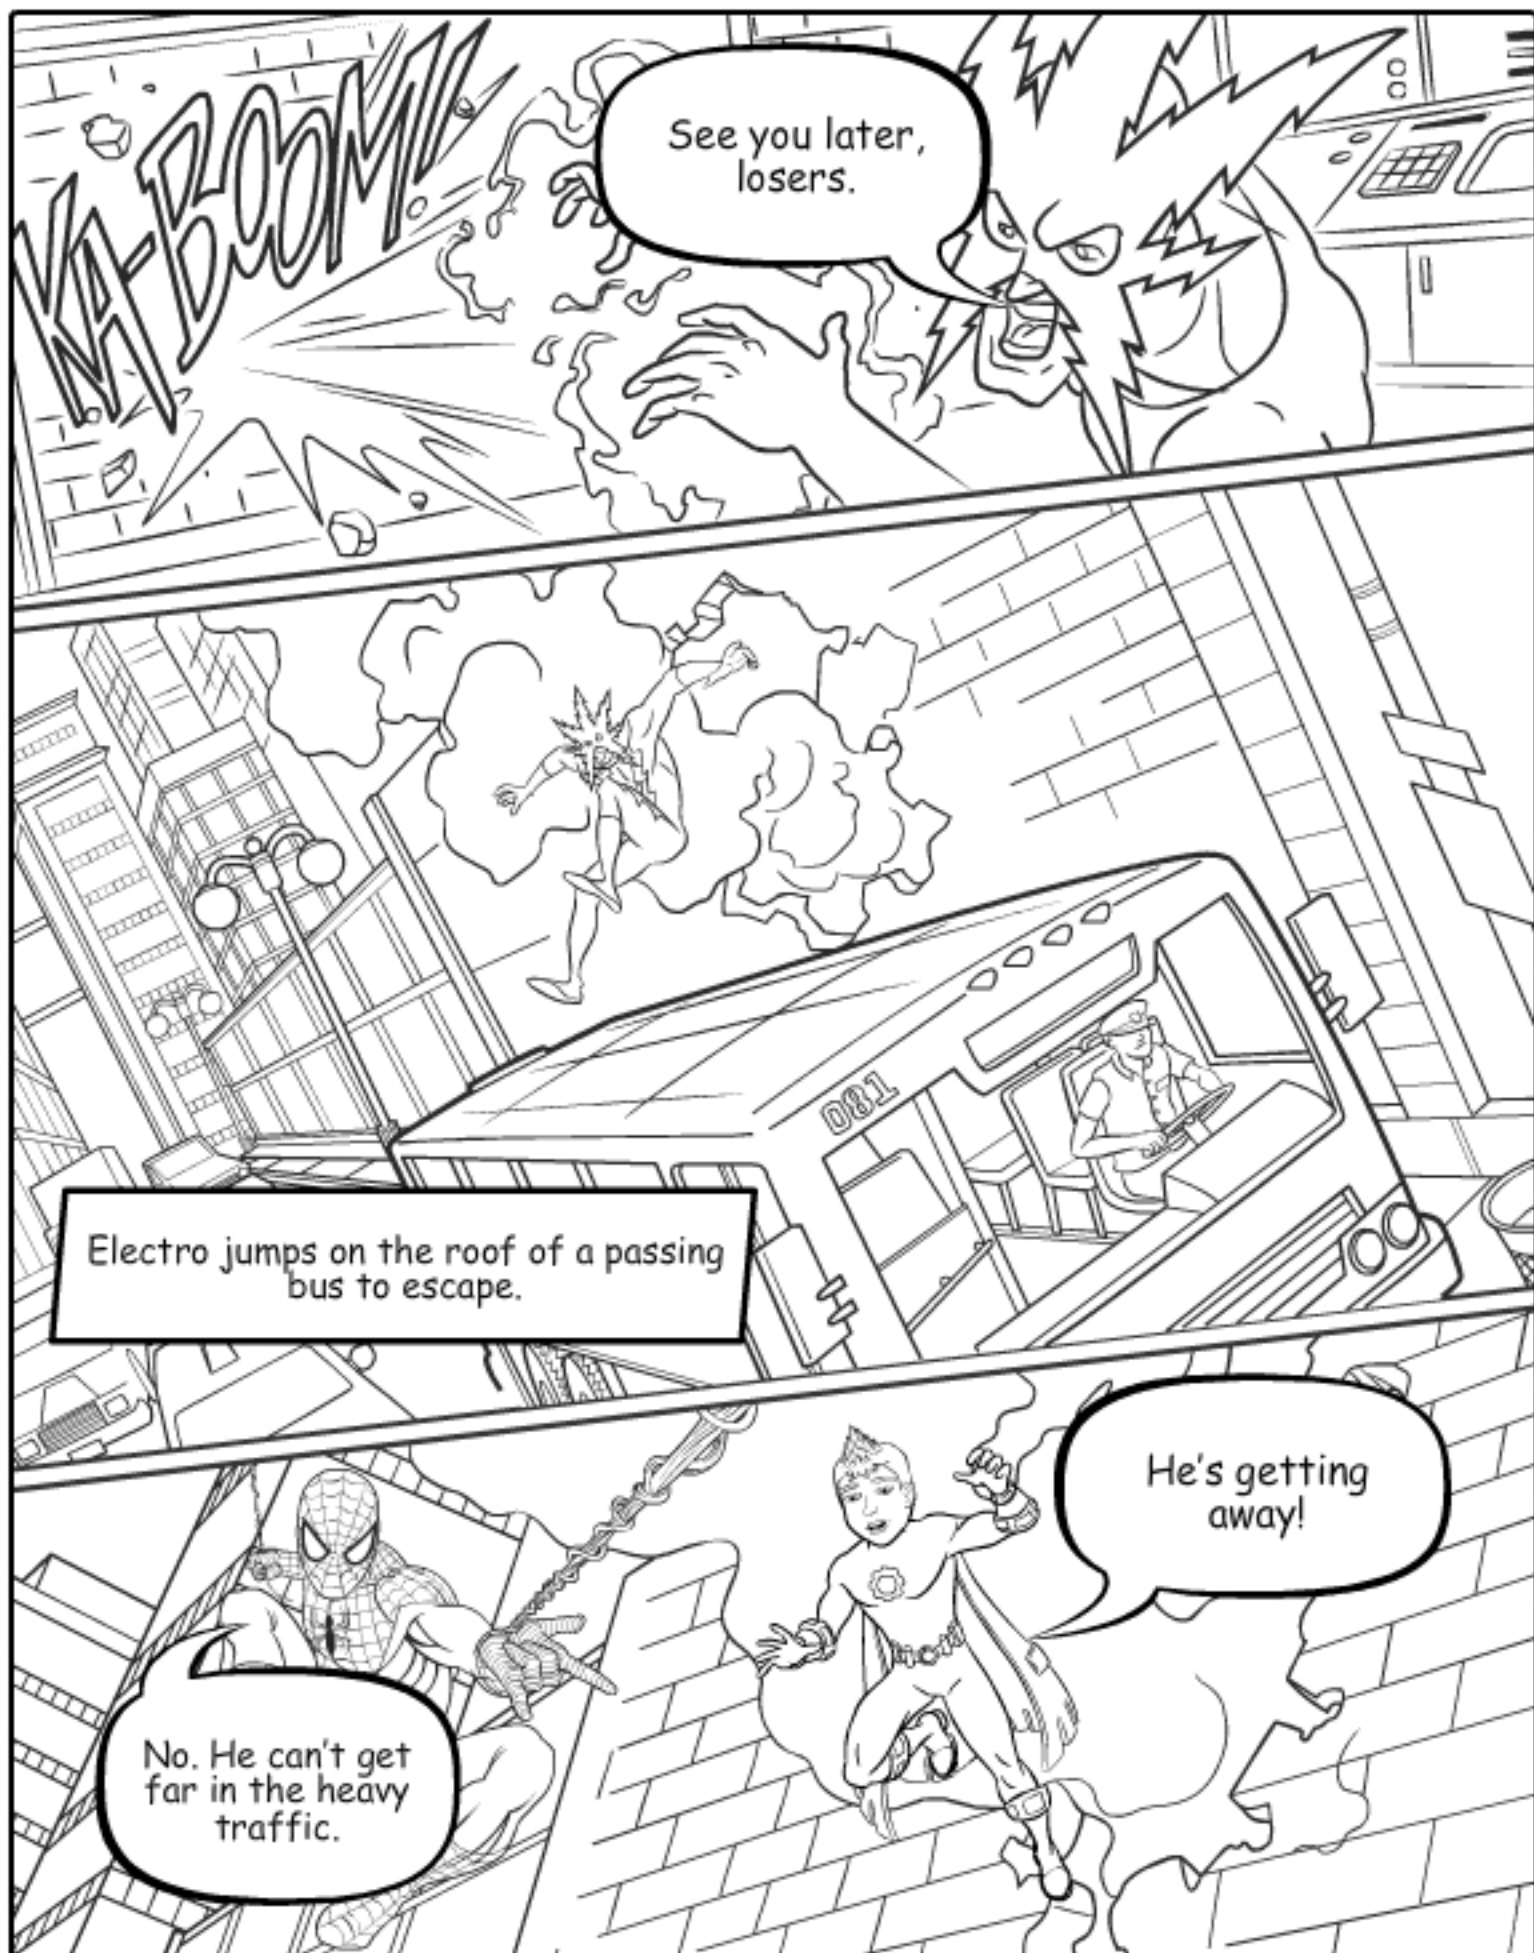

CRASH!

Electro is fast, but Spider-Man is faster and safely jumps out of the way.

Hey, Electro, it's lights out for you. Time to surrender.

I don't think so.

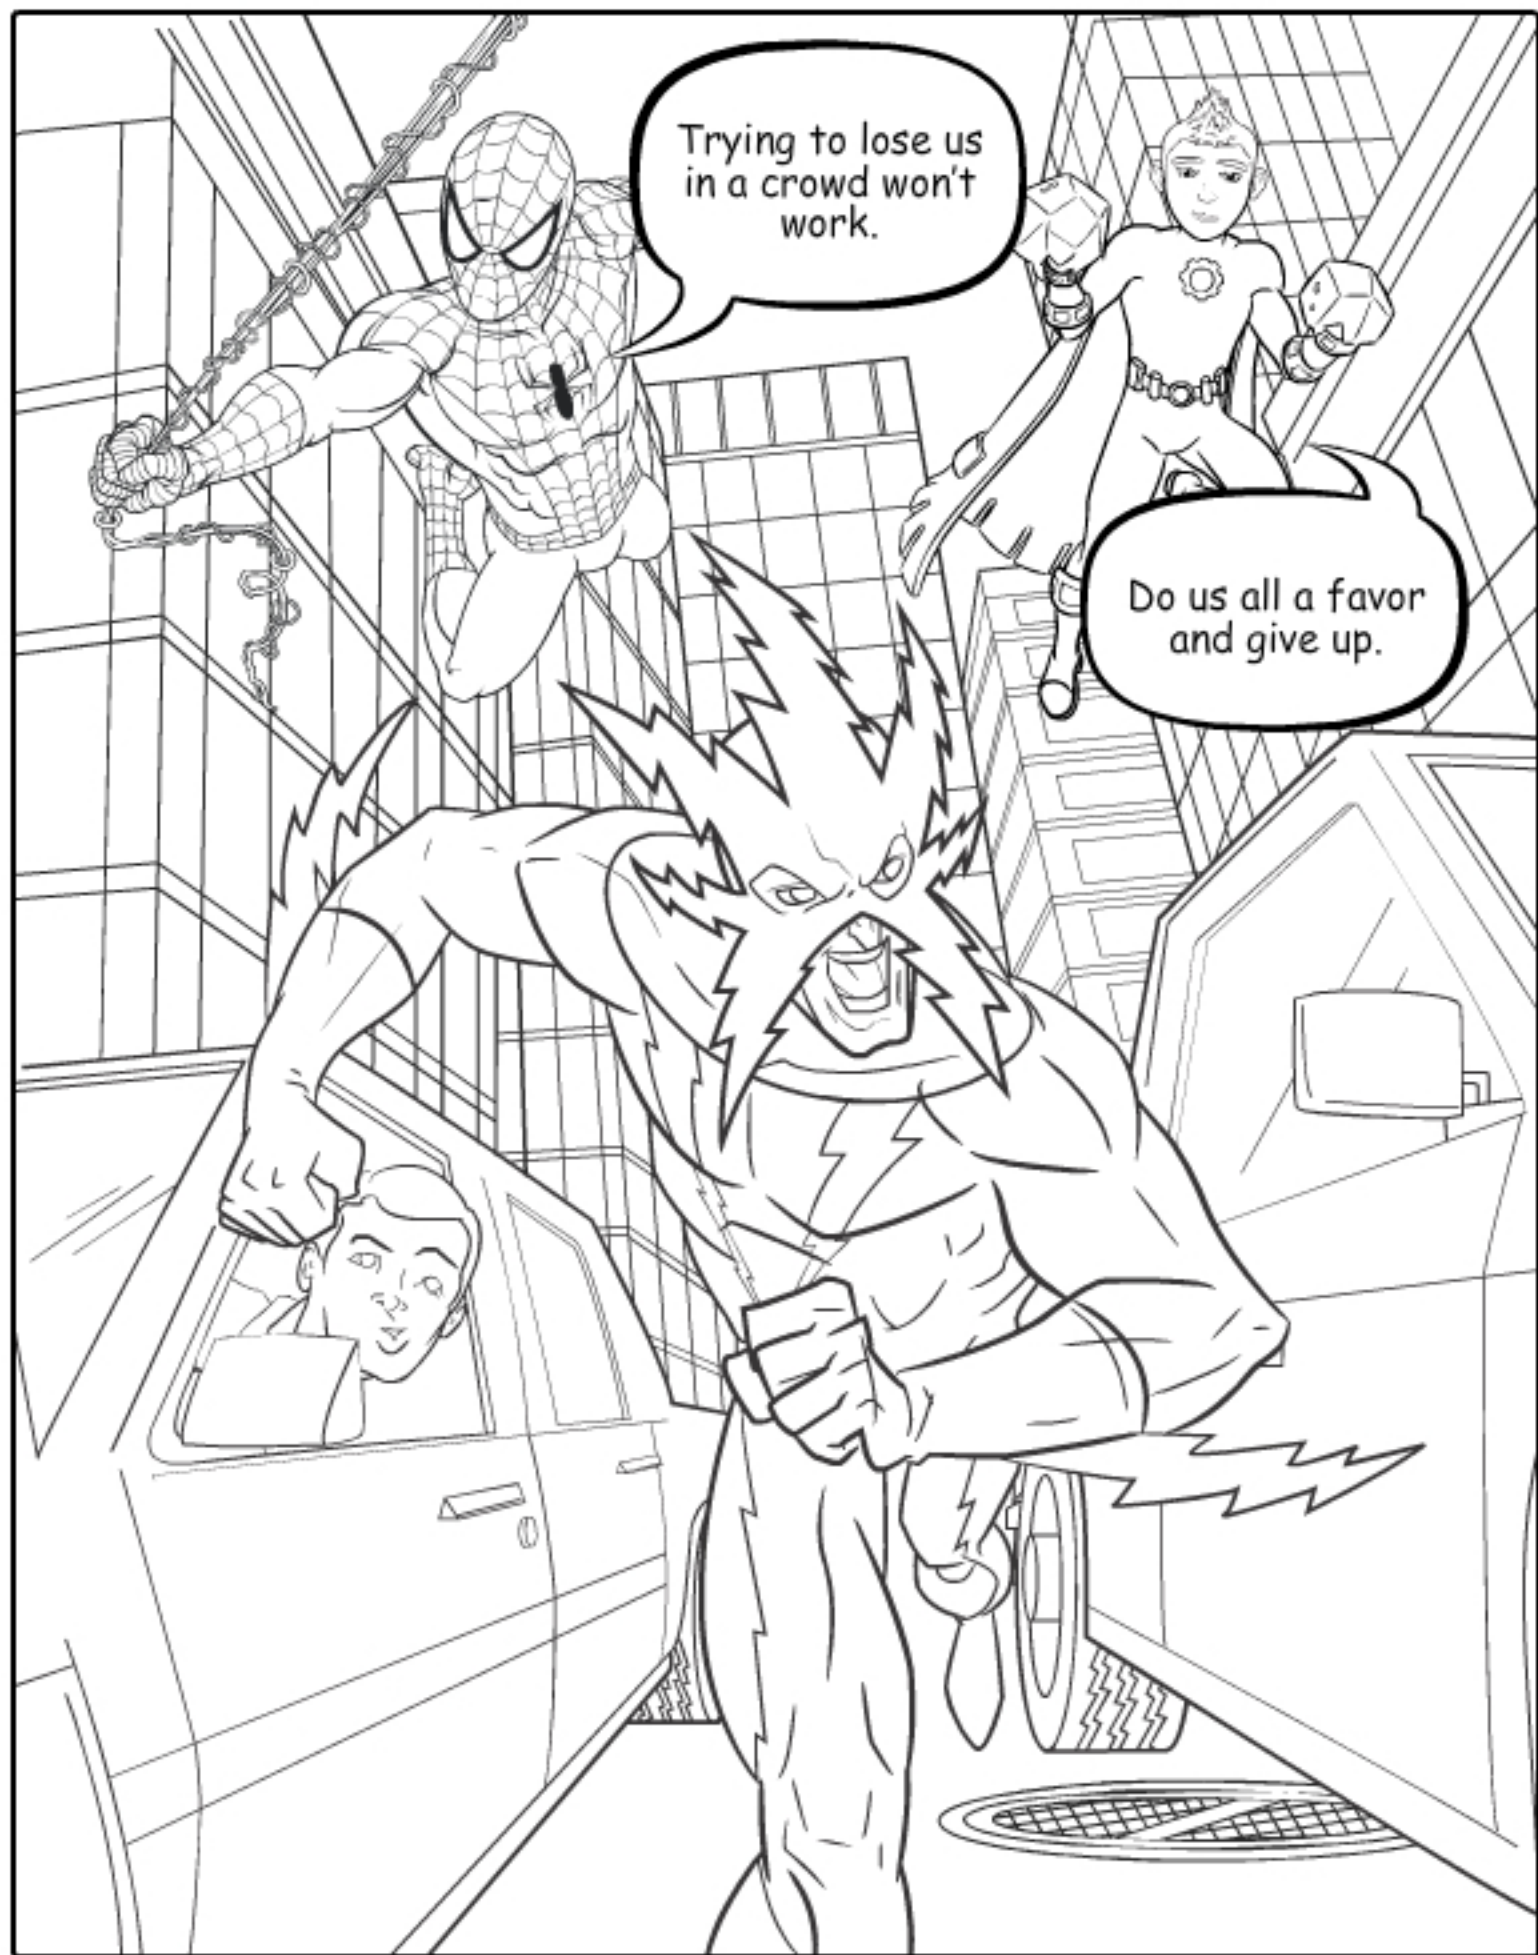

See you later,
losers.

Electro jumps on the roof of a passing bus to escape.

He's getting away!

No. He can't get far in the heavy traffic.

Trying to lose us in a crowd won't work.

Do us all a favor
and give up.

Back off.

Electro uses his powers to knock over a newsstand to slow down Spider-Man and Nova Noah.

CRASH!

Spider-Man uses his webbing to catch everything that Electro throws his way.

After Electro has been taken to jail, Spider-Man and Nova Noah help turn the lights back on in the city.

There, that will restart the generators.

Now that Electro is locked away, things are looking brighter for everyone.

The End.

Nova Noah

Top Secret

Name Nova Noah

Powers Ice

Secret Identity Classified

Hidden Lair Classified

Weakness Classified